Statement of Guilt

1 Name: Nameless Bookmark 0
Article date: 1999/05/18 (Weekday) 19:20:55
The bright full moon casts its light onto a nameless night in the month of May.
Delusional people were bound by spider webs
to act in a comedy.
Little puppy announced a delightful play.
Audiences were bursting into tears,
whereas spiders raised their heads up and stared.
Those who are completely oblivious to their
Master's gaze is desiring for another day...

Because people tend to like the helplessness of silence.

May 28 Year 1999 (Friday) 19:20:55

A young politician was in the middle of a live TV discussion when he was murdered

Cause of death is Shock.

Initially a piano string had been wrapped around his neck and connected to a spotlight. Since the spotlight fell on to the floor, his head was sliced off by the piano string thus causing his sudden death.

Panic spread across the live studio, that scene was broadcasted on national TV for an entire 15 seconds

While everyone was focused on the decapitated head...

The body which was initially there suddenly disappeared

At the same time on the day before...

The body was later rediscovered elsewhere

And the cut-off point on the neck had been treated properly to stop blood flow

The other three cases of body mutilations were also predicted on the forum a day before each took place but it was only this time a linkage was discovered.

Ever since then, one policeman managed to produce a sketch or a profile of the culprit

And announced that he "is close to discovering the truth", the said policeman then disappeared the next day—

Published on the massive forum of the Nameless Bookmark was an article written with precision as to how the incident would occur

Hence this incident was deemed a "prediction"

This case was then named [Nameless Bookmark]'s 4th case

Not long after, the policeman became its 24th victim

Rumors spread ever since then about the possibility of a policeman being the culprit or the culprit is dead and until today, the truth is still unknown—
